

It's the day we've all been waiting for!

Our team is getting together for some face time(and not the virtual kind).

Our team-building event will be (drum roll please) a boat part on the high seas
(or lakes, in our case).

Here's what to expect...

1. We'll be meeting at 10:00am sharp on the lakeshore docks.
2. The captain will assign each team member a task.
3. The yachts race each other as everyone on each boat does their assigned jobs.
4. After the race, the leading boat sails towards a location (TBD) where we'll tie up the boats and hang-out with the option to move from one boat to the other.

Who's invited?

EV-ER-Y-ONE. This event is not reserved for only our GTM team and I'd LOVE to see faces from all over our company (and that means you IT).

Will there be food and drinks?

Yes!

We hope to see you there!
